

BLANCHE WALSH AT ORPHEUM ON THURSDAY

"The Other Woman" is the work of Frederic Arnold Kummer, Mr. Kummer is a Baltimorean, and this is his third successful play. The cast for the new drama is a small one, but the players have been selected for the few roles with all the greater care.

George W. Howard, who has the leading male role, for instance, is now in his fourth season as leading man for Blanche Walsh. Formerly he was leading man for several of Charles Frohman's stars, among these being Ethel Barrymore.

Nellie Butler, another of the principals in "The Other Woman" was one of the chief supports for Walker Whiteside in "The Melting Pot." Previously she appeared in important roles in Charles Frohman's productions.

Anne Cleveland, Zora Lawrence and Isabel Mendoza are also prominent in the cast.

CHECKERS TEAM IS FORMED

Members of the erstwhile baseball club of the Union Pacific car shops are now devoting their spare moments to the less strenuous game of checkers and are expected soon to issue a challenge to their old rivals of the diamond to meet them in a contest on the squared board.

M. C. Blakeley, formerly captain and third baseman of the baseball team, now leads the coterie of checker challengers and is said to know the game "by book."

A. S. Charlesworth, formerly a center fielder, now spends his noon hours stooped over the blocked board and claims that with the "white men" he can defeat any machinist in the state of Utah.

A. O. Perrin and Emil Knecke have just completed a new checker board and when they are not playing the game they are studying out checker problems.

Checkers is becoming an epidemic in the car shops and it is expected that before long every man in the shops, who can use a paint brush and mix two different colors of paint, will have his own checker board which he can carry to and from his work under his arm.

Enjoy a good show and hear the election returns at the Orpheum tonight.

REDEEMING BOTTOM LANDS

J. P. O'Neill has returned from Logan where he has just finished the building of a large sewer system for the city. Mr. O'Neill states that the last trench has been dug and the sewer pipe laid, the extra work done and the system turned over to the municipality.

This is the first sewer system to be installed in the Ogden city of the north and it is said that it is sufficiently extensive to give the city a fairly good sewerage. The cost of the system was in the neighborhood of $40,000. The contractor says that considerable difficulty was encountered in the work because of quite a large quantity of water in some of the trenches which necessitated the use of pumps.

Mr. O'Neill now has a force of men and teams at work clearing a large tract of river bottom land along the Weber river immediately south of the Bamberger railroad bridge. It is said that the land is among the richest in the country and that when it is cleared of the quite extensive growth of cottonwood trees and leveled for agricultural purposes, it will be among the most productive farms of the county. A great deal of work has been done on this tract of land by way of clearing it and diking against the overflow of the river water, but it will require much more labor to put the land in first class shape for farming.

It is claimed by those familiar with the situation that there are many acres of splendid land in the bottoms and jungles of the Weber river, west of it along the river north and much of the city, that may be reclaimed in this way which would mean the turning of the entire area now covered with cottonwood trees and, in high water, partially inundated, into productive fields and gardens. It is claimed that it will not be a very difficult matter to control the water of the river if proper dykes and breakwaters are built during the low water time. When the channel of the stream is once fixed in a direction away from the lands, the danger of the land being inundated is virtually averted for all time. These bottom lands thus reclaimed and placed in active service will become valuable farm lands, but in their present condition they serve only the purpose of growing jungles as the hiding place of criminals and the camping place of tramps. The transformation is much to be desired.

ORAL EXPRESSION IN THE SCHOOLS

"There has never been a time when convincing and forceful speech exerted so great an influence as now. In business, social and public life. It is not too much to say that to speak well is a passport to success," said W. H. O'Byrne, head of the department of oral expression in the high school when asked by a representative of the Standard to outline the purpose of that department. Continuing Mr. O'Byrne said:

"Oral expression is the art of speaking language so as to make the thought it expresses, clear and impressive. This is best done by teaching students to deliver the sentences in which their thoughts are couched in a natural and consequently in an impressive manner.

"In this department we begin with the fundamentals. The first requisite to natural and impressive speaking is that the student think in a logical manner. But before giving utterance to thoughts a student must learn that the stuff of which speech is made is breath. The students are trained in the management of the breath and in the management of their mother tongue sufficiently well to articulate it distinctly and to pronounce it according to some recognized authority. As a matter of course, studies in articulation and pronunciation are required as a preparation.

"After acquiring the fundamentals, students are taught and attain by constant practice in the class room, directness, earnestness and dignity in their delivery."

THEATRICAL WAR IS CLEARED UP

New York, Nov. 7.—John Cort announced here tonight that the so-called theatrical syndicate headed by Klaw & Erlanger, and the National Theater Owners' association, representing the National Theater Owners' association, where by the attractions of the former will hereafter be booked in the houses controlled by the National Theater Owners' association. This clears up the general theatrical situation.

"An agreement was reached today between Frohman, Klaw & Erlanger and John Cort, representing the National Theater Owners' association, whereby the attractions of the former will hereafter be booked in the houses controlled by the National Theater Owners' association. This clears up the general theatrical situation."

ACTORS UNIONS TO JOIN FEDERATION

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Announcement was made tonight of the consolidation of the White Rats of America and the Actors' National union. The White Rats' Actors' union is the name of the combined organization and it will affiliate with the American Federation of Labor.

BETTING IS IN FAVOR OF DIX

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Gossip had it today and tonight that the campaign betting odds in the last pre-election hours were between 3 to 2 on Dix and 7 to 1 on Dix. The Republicans charge, however, that the betting is largely fictitious and that the prices are quoted for "wash" bets only.

It was reported tonight that just after the close of the stock exchange for the day one broker offered $20,000 to $60,000 on Dix and found no Stimson takers. It is said that longer odds of 7 to 1 were accepted early in the day. A bet of $5,000 to $5,000 that Dix would have a plurality of 50,000 in the state was reported.

Much Stimson money from Buffalo appeared late this afternoon, but the askers wanted 4 to 1 and found no takers. A peculiar feature of the speculative records this year has been that whereas in general the odds tend to tighten at the last moment, this time they have lengthened, in current report at least.

ELECTION IN STATE OF UTAH

Reports throughout the state of Utah received at 10 a. m., indicate unusual interest in the voting. The different party workers are actively engaged in bringing out the full vote.

Weather conditions in Salt Lake City are very favorable. The leaders of both the Republican and Democratic parties in that city claim that their preliminary canvass of vote is being confirmed.

BOISE CITY SOMEWHAT INFLATED

City Jailor Hagberg, Anderson has returned from a pleasant vacation spent at Boise, Idaho, and vicinity. Mr. Anderson has been away two weeks. His visit at Boise was with his friend Fred Bossner, who formerly was in Ogden.

Boise is among the thriving cities of Idaho and has made rapid strides commercially and otherwise during the past decade. He is of the opinion, though, that things are considerably overdone in the little city and that the inflated condition of today will not redound altogether to the best good of the place. The farming lands of that section, Mr. Anderson says, are exceptionally fertile, and are productive of excellent crops, but the land is being held at altogether too high a price to place them within the reach of any except the speculator. Farm lands within a few miles of Boise are held as high as $1,500 per acre and real estate in the business center of the city is being held at the outrageously high price of $1,400 per front foot. The building activity of the city consists largely in adding one and two stories to buildings already erected.

While in Boise, Mr. Anderson did the singing role for the opening of a new picture house which has been erected by the Scowcroft of this city and Fred Bossner, who is managing the business. Mr. Anderson was given high compliments by the newspapers of Boise on his splendid voice and they say that the songs he sang were the attractive features of the opening of the new playhouse.

Mr. Anderson was in Boise during the heat of the political campaign and things were pretty warm there. Strange to say, the liquor question is the great issue in Idaho this year but the two parties are assuming reverse roles from that in Utah. The Republicans in Idaho are advocating prohibition and the Democrats local option, the outcome of the election, in Mr. Anderson's opinion being rather uncertain. It is conceded that the Mormon population will vote for prohibition and that their votes will figure considerably in the final summing up of the political campaign.

APPLES ARE ON DOWN GRADE

The apple market is demoralized this year, according to the statements of several prominent apple growers of this vicinity. The great supply of the fruit from the northwest, from Colorado and the apple states of the east has pushed out the bottom of the demand and apples are being scattered over the entire country in such reckless profusion that local shippers can find no markets.

It is claimed that while the fruit in this section of the county is far superior to that of the northwest, apples from that section are filling the market, plus of the east, where heretofore fruit from Bear Valley has been deposited. This is because of the low prices which the northwestern growers have been accepting. Many of the carload orders which the local shippers had booked during the summer have been cancelled and it is said that apples are piling up in the hands of many growers in this vicinity.

Another feature which has caused trouble to the growers in this locality is that the warm weather which has been prevalent this fall throughout the state, has prevented the apples from coloring properly. While the coloring of an apple does not affect its food value, it is an important item in its selling value and eastern buyers are particular about the exterior appearance of the fruit.

While it would seem that the absence of a foreign market for the apple would cause a decided drop in the price of the fruit in Ogden, it has not had this effect. Apples are retelling in this city at about the same price as in former years. Ben Davis apples are being sold in the grocery stores at about $1.50 per bushel and Jonathans at $1.75 per bushel.

J. S. Carver, president of the state pure food bureau, when asked this afternoon why the foreign market price should not affect the local market, stated that it was due to the more rigid enforcement of the agricultural laws in this state.

"Wormy apples cannot be placed on the market in Utah," explained the grower, "but they can be sold in other states. In Utah the retail merchant can handle only assorted apples and for this reason the apples on the retail markets are of a different character entirely than those shipped. Every year the agricultural department of the state is enforcing the law against the marketing of wormy apples. Wormy apples can be taken in the canneries or the cider presses but they cannot be sold in the grocery stores. When one considers that more than twenty-five per cent of all the apples raised at the present time for wormy, it is easy to see why this wormy affects the local market price of the fruit.

The county inspector is very strict in his inspection of apples in the stores of this county and when he finds a basket containing wormy fruit he dumps the entire lot. It is not object to this law. I think it is a very good one and will in time mean that there will be no wormy apples raised in the state. It will force the growers who do not spray their orchards and take proper care of their trees to do so or get out of the business. There is no doubt about the wisdom of the law, but it means that the people must pay a high price for the fruit than they did before it was enacted. In the ultimate it will be the means of lowering the price of the fruit to the consumers because it will induce for better fruit and, larger crops and an almost entire extermination of the apple worm from the state."

CONTEST OF ELECTION POSSIBLE

According to the statements of Judge H. H. Henderson, the voting machine of the Thirteenth district is not operating as it should and about 10 o'clock today he filed an official protest against the workings of the machine with the judges of that district.

Judge Henderson says that he undertook to vote for Charles Zelmer and Arthur Pratt for the legislature, one a Republican the other a Democrat. He first voted for the Republican, Zelmer, his name being the first on the legislative ticket, but when he undertook to cast his vote for Pratt, whose name is immediately below Zelmer's, he found that the machine was locked against a vote for Pratt.

When Judge Henderson made his protest to the judges of that district, he says they told him they could do nothing about it, that they knew nothing of the mechanism of the machine and that they would not undertake to make changes in its arrangement.

The protest of Judge Henderson may furnish grounds for a contest of the election. George Folkman examined the machine this afternoon and found it to be working properly. He said that Mr. Henderson must have turned the lever at the Republican emblem, which voted the entire Republican ticket, including the legislative candidates and this in attempting to vote for Pratt on the Democratic ticket, he neglected to raise the lever over one of the other Republican candidates.

"There can be only four legislative candidates voted for on the machine," said Mr. Folkman, "and they can be voted for at any place on the ballot, but after voting for one on one ticket, one desires to vote some candidate on another ticket, the lever over one of the candidates already voted for must be raised and the point over the name to be voted turned down."

LLOYD RELEASED ON CASH BOND

B. F. Lloyd, the man who is charged with poisoning three women of the red light district for the purpose of robbing them, was released on bond yesterday, but the police are continuing their investigations and are determined to bring the man to trial on a charge of attempted murder.

At present the officers are awaiting the decision on an analysis of the four found in the stomachs of the time of his arrest. By the physician who attended the women the contents of the bottle found in the man's possession is declared to be laudanum. Two of Lloyd's victims have positively identified the bottle as that which the man took from his pocket while in their presence. The alleged poisoner says the bottle does not contain poison.

DEATHS AND BIRTHS IN OGDEN

Sanitary Inspector Maroni Poulter has taken up the task of furnishing Uncle Sam with statistics regarding births and deaths of the city and it will not be finished until about January 10, 1911.

The government requires an annual report from the health officers of municipalities and other governmental organizations, that the data may be compiled into a series of statistical reports touching upon the health and longevity of the people. It is anticipated that by the central government knowing something of the relative deaths and births, the causes of death and the relative male and female population, it will be possible to correct many evils in sanitation and health conditions.

The report will be required to give the number of births and deaths of the city during the year, designating the number of males and females, the names and residences of the parents, the time of birth or death, the cause of death, the life occupation of the persons dead, the occupation of the parents, the street and house number of the residence, what physician was in attendance at either birth or death and other things that will show the real health status of the community.

PRIZE WINNERS AT BALTIMORE MEET

BALTIMORE, Nov. 7.—Hubert Latham, who today accomplished the feat of a flight of nearly 25 miles—about half of it over the city—established a new record for over-city flight.

The incentive was a prize of $5,000 offered by the Sun and Evening Sun for a trip over a prescribed route. Latham was to follow the course of the Patuxent river to Fort McHenry, thence up the inner harbor to and around the Sun building, east to the city limits, a mile northwest to Druid Hill park, down Charles street to Baltimore harbor, and then southwest to the aviation field.

Benefit of an invalid.
There was to be a short detour for the benefit of Ross Winans, a wealthy invalid, who, unable to leave his home, offered $500 if Latham would fly within his range of vision. All this Latham accomplished. He varied his altitude from 400 to 2,000 feet and had to contend with a wind blowing from 7 to 15 miles an hour. He used his 50-horsepower Antoinette, and was in the air 52 minutes, making no stop after leaving the field.

Over the Tall Buildings.
All the tall buildings in the downtown section were crowded by thousands to witness the flight. By noon every roof top was black with people. At 12 o'clock the city seemed to stop work. Some minutes later word came that Latham had started. Latham sailed straight for Fort McHenry, and went almost directly over it, turned and headed in a northwestern direction. He then steered for the crowded skyscrapers in the downtown district.

After circling the sun building he continued on the route designated. At Calvert street he rose to 2,000 feet and performed a series of evolutions for the benefit of Mr. Winans. Then he headed for the skyscraper district again and, passing the high buildings, wheeled westward and bore away for the aviation field.

There were real competitions at the aviation field today. Here again Latham came to the front by winning first in both the duration and distance contests. Count Jacques de Lesseps, in his Blériot, took the second prize in the altitude and duration trials, and J. Armstrong Drexel, in a Blériot, won the first prize for altitude. His record was 1,885 feet.

Latham took the first duration prize with a total of 47 minutes and 31 seconds. De Lesseps remaining aloft 30 minutes and 42.45 seconds.

After flying in the "baby" Wright biplane from the railroad station to the course, Arch Hoxsey made a bad landing and damaged the machine. Hoxsey was unhurt. Summaries:
Hourly distance—Won by Latham, (Antoinette), ten laps.
Hourly altitude—Won by Drexel (Blériot), 1,722 feet.
Duration—Won by Latham, 47 minutes and 31 seconds; second, De Lesseps, 30 minutes and 42 seconds.
Standing of prize winners—Latham, $5,500; Drexel, $500; De Lesseps, $500.

IMMIGRANTS' HARDSHIPS.

New York, Nov. 8.—Ellis Island will remember the case of Franz Lohn and his wife, German-Hungarians, as a peculiar example of how the innocent letter of the law, as applied to immigrants, may work heart-rending hardships. The aged couple have two daughters living in Passaic, N. J., and it was their intention to join them when they journeyed to Hamburg, Germany, and bought a ticket to America. But the man who sold them the ticket put them on a steamer which landed them in Buenos Ayres. With no funds they spent a year at hard labor on a ranch, finally earning enough for passage to New York. A week ago they arrived here again penniless. The immigration officials sold immediately they could not land because they were likely to become public charges.

The pleadings of the two daughters availed nothing and the only question which remained was, should they go back to Argentina or to Hamburg? The law says specifically that the line which breaks over an undesirable alien shall take him back. The daughters offered to pay the passage to Germany, but the law was inflexible and the two are now aboard a steamer sailing back to Argentina, their Nemesis.

Scarlet Fever.—Four new cases of scarlet fever were reported to the health department of the city yesterday and one this morning. Sanitary Inspector Poulter states, however, that the cases are all of a mild form.

HORN SILVER CHOOSES

NEW DIRECTOR

General Manager M. C. Morris and Director P. T. Farnsworth of the Horn Silver Mining company have returned from the meeting in New York as directors of the company. The vacancy caused by the death of President A. I. Harrison of the company was not filled, but has been postponed until the conclusion of the annual meeting, which will be held December 6 next, probably in this city. At the New York meeting, T. Elliott Hodgskyn was chosen a director of the company. Mr. Morris says the matter of establishing a concentrating mill at the property in Beaver county was discussed in an informal way at the meeting, but no definite action was taken. At this time the mill question will be thoroughly looked into, and the question no doubt, settled at the December meeting. From all appearances, there is no opposition to the project; the only hindrance being what style of mill is best suited to handle the thousands of tons of low-grade ore stored in the old workings, and ready to be knocked down and poured into the mill.
